I'm starting my beginning range goal August 17, 2009, in the entry-level program at South Georgia College, located on the VSU campus. I must always keep my Destiny Range Highway in view. The road to Valdosta State University is paved with personal avenues to travel. All the individual goals in my plan have one thing in common—I need to ATTACK them from the very start. It's not "I have to study;" it's I GET to study" and make sure no studying is left undone. This is my one chance. There are no repeats or second chances. The key is to remember the basics and do my best every day in class. At the end of every day I need to ask myself, "Have you done your BEST today?" And the answer needs to be "YES I DID."
