I did not know about Valdosta State until my senior year of high school. I planned to go to New York University and staying in state was not an option. Ryan, a recruiter for VSU, came to my school and everything changed. Since coming to VSU I have gained many connections that have been beneficial to my growth career wise and as a person. The best thing about VState is the school pride. Students are proud to attend this school and represent the school wherever they go. Also the strong community, that the students have built despite majors, ethnicities, and opposing values. I also love the new president Dr. McKinney. He and his wife personifies everything that VState represent; Family, community, and good ol southern hospitality. I love VSU!
